Mining Conditions

Arizona mining conditions are praised by S E Bennett, western field representative of the Engineering and Mining Journal, who has been in Arizona the past week interviewing man, mining men. He travels over the entire west, and his statement concerting the valuable aspect of the mining eituation in the border state means something.

"Arizona is now probably the most active mining state in the Union," Mr Bennett said. "The strike in Michigan, the snows in Colorado, the troubles in Mexico, contribute indirectly to its progress. People are looking towards the great southwest the way to the Endless Cave near that as never before for the larger returns on their investments.

Other lines of industry have had meager profits during the past four years, so that capital is searching for investment in mining, because mining paid the largest dividend of any single industry last year. Don't take my word for it-look up the Issue of January 10 of the Engineering and Mining Journal-there are figures there which even the average mining man dues not appreciate concerning the growth in the production of the metals and especially copper from this section."

N. M. Governor

to Speak On Roads

Governor Williams G. McDonald of New Mexico, has written the Dougas Chamber of Commerce and Mines accepting the invitation extended him te make a short address upon the subject of good roads during his stay here on April 15, at the smaker to be given that evening in the Gadeden lobby. Governor Hunt has been extended similar invitation and his favorable reply has beed received by the cham er. It is confidently anticipated that anibling beer boog svig cela liw ed in the southwest a similar bonet, by speaking in its behalf.

The chamber has also learned that wide publicity will be given the event. The "Pathe Weekly" will be represented by a camera man who will take ernors on the Arizons - New Mexico line, the formalty of their greeting and the ensuing ceremonies, including, perhaps, some of the scenery along the famous Borderland routupon the return trip to Douglas, also also to the .melters, convict road
